Security Screws

Enermax security screw set for PC cases, power supplies, motherboards, and PCI/AGP cards. These screws are more secure than standard screws due to their non standard head, while at the same time they are fairly easy to install and remove for tech crews. Unlike keylock screws which use a key to turn the screw, these use a more traditional driver. This means you can use more of them without sacrificing ease of install, build up or ease of servicing while at the same time you gain security from sticky fingered users. Features: Protect your PC components. Two types of screws to fit most PC components. Unique dual head screw driver and key. Neat quality package.

Inkjet Cartridge Flush

Used for flushing out inkjet cartridges and syringes that are used for filling cartridges. It can be used in several ways: •Where one cartridge is used to print with different colored inks the flush is ideal for removing all traces of other colors and avoiding color contamination •To "rejuvenate" a cartridge that has been allowed to dry out •Certain types of cartridges contain sponges which become less absorbent to ink over time, using cartridge flush on these can improve the internal sponge absorption •Under no circumstances should a cartridge be cleaned with water as this would lead to irreversible contamination and internal corrosion.

High-Density Slotted Wiring Ducts

High-density slotted wall ducts come with narrow fingers, equaling a 2-to-1 ratio compared to standard slotted wiring ducts. The narrow fingers reduce fanning of the wires to the terminal blocks for a neater appearance and to accommodate more compact designs and components in control panels, communications closets, and other applications. Made with a versatile mounting hole pattern which lines up with DIN 35 rail; the mounting hole rows are also consistent with standard slotted wiring duct, so the two ducts can easily be interchanged. Double-scored breakaway duct fingers make larger breakouts easy. Restricted opening design prevents unintended removal of wires. Color: Gray. Flammability rated UL94V-0. UL recognized, CSA certified. Made in the U.S.A. Order duct covers separately. Sold in packages of 24' in four 6' lengths.
